5. DESCRIPTION OF GUIDELINE

1. Short Placements

Under section 117 of the Act, registered training organisations are required to maintain a register of vocational placements (electronic or paper). A vocational placement agreement may be registered where:

- a) the registered training organisation has recognition for the vocational placement scheme for which the vocational placement agreement is intended
- b) all parties have agreed to and signed the vocational placement agreement
- c) a training plan (see Chapter 3, Part 3 of the Act) signed by all parties is attached to the vocational placement agreement

- e) the placement person can provide the required facilities, range of work, supervision and training required under the training plan
- f) the total placement for the student on that year for that course is no more than 240 hours
- g) the placement person is not a prohibited employer as defined in the Act
- h) the placement of the student with the placement person does not exceed any
  - I. permitted ratio that applies to apprentices/trainees or learners to tradesperson and/or

2. Long Placements

Section 118 of the Act requires registered training organisations to submit to Skills Queensland a signed copy of all Vocational Placement Agreements (long placement), for registration prior to the commencement of that placement. It is not a requirement of section 118 that a registered training organisation maintains a register of long vocational placement agreements as Skills Queensland maintains the register.

Skills Queensland will accept such agreements as long placements providing all criteria as set out above are met and in addition:

- a) the total period of placement for the student in that year for that course is more than 240 hours; and
